

The rest of the sky during Totality...

If you are not too spellbound by the Corona, and the spectacle of the excited people around you, look for any planets and bright stars that appear in the middle of the day!

The planets, left to right, east to west: Jupiter should be easy, Mercury much less bright and quite close to the sun, brilliant Venus super easy, Saturn and Mars are right next to each other and will likely be visible. Also look for familiar Orion, maybe just his brightest shoulder & knee, Betelgeuse and Rigel. See any other stars??? Soooooo cool !!!!! K*
